

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A designer unisex horseshoe-shaped apparatus which is designed and configured to provide color accenting for tracheostomy tubes and other neck wearing devices. It is a designer attachment with a non-medical appearance. Therefore, the present invention will provide for any color, including gold and silver tone in order to accent the user's wardrobe. Other embodiments may include, but not limited to, stretching materials, any other suitable material and adjustable hangings with designer clamps in the back being that there are both adjustable and nonadjustable models. The present invention may be comprised of, but not limited to, various materials such as beads, chains, and fabrics including stretching fabrics or the like in order to provide various designs. The present invention is comprised of a closed-ended hook and go system which helps to make it a safe attachment.